EVENING EDITION.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA::::::::MAY 12.

☞ Portions of the Pacific Railroad have cost $300,000 per mile.

☞ Give your hens bone meal if you wish them to lay.

☞ The San Francisco Courier runs its printing press by gas. In France it has been done for five years.

☞ The Petersburg Index reports two strange bugs devastating wheat and cabbage.

☞ The Indian method of divorce is for the husband to shoot his wife and burn her body.

☞ The Rome Commercial says Floyd county has $3,556,791 of property—289,980 acres of land. In 1857. it had $4,394,672.

☞ The Milledgeville Union is still pegging away about the removal of the Capital.

☞ In Sumter county, many planters have had to plow up and re-plant half their cotton.

☞ From ocean to ocean by the Pacific Railroad, is 3,299 miles. The fare is $153 91. The trip takes seven and a-half days. The steam ship rates are $280. the trip takes a month.

☞ The Washington Intelligencer says the negro is as much a slave as he ever was. Enrolled in Loyal Leagues, bound up to obedience by oaths, controlled in the service of political masters, his subjection is the same, except that his boss is changed.

☞ It is said that the Government has taken steps for the reduction of the debt. We believe that the Radical administration has been doing this a long time—the only trouble is that its steps have been—backward.

☞ General Jourdan, formerly Chief of Staff to Gen. Beauregard, is to organize the Cuban army. Several thousand soldiers are reported to have left the different United States ports for Cuba.

TO BUSINESS MEN.—This paper affords you unparalleled advantages for advertising. Its daily circulation is increasing rapidly. It goes to more readers than any other paper in the city or section. It is steadily increasing in influence and favor. Additional expense will be put upon it to improve and perfect it as the news-medium of the State. When a merchant pays for an advertisement, the more it goes to the more he is repaid for his expense.

☞ The Hon. Jacob Thompson has returned to Mississippi after long exile. His people welcomed him warmly. In his speech he alludes feelingly to our distinguished and departed statesman, Gen. Howell Cobb. He recommends our people to take the situation philosophically, and work to improve our condition.

☞ The Tennessee Horticultural Society holds its spring exhibition in Nashville, on the 19th, 20th, and 21st of May, 1869. A large list of premiums is offered for plants, fruits, vegetables, etc. All packages and fruits, etc., intended for the exhibition will be transported at half fare.

We delight to hear of such exhibitions. They will do more to create an interest in the culture of fine fruits and flowers, than anything. Our people have a practical interest in such things.

☞ The Baltimore Gazette has a very sensible editorial upon Mr. Secretary Boutwell's new dodge of buying up a million of United States Five Twenties. It says he had much better have bought up the first mortgage bonds of the Pacific Railroad.

We clip a few paragraphs, which explain the rise in gold:

The long continued low rate of interest in England, and the gradual increase of confidence in the stability of this Government, strengthened by the election of General Grant, finally had its effect upon United States bonds. Capitalists, who were receiving but about three per cent. interest for their money, thought it would pay much better to invest in securities which paid, at ruling rates, over seven per cent. A demand sprang up, speculation set in, and United States bonds rose in England to over 81—an advance of nearly nine per cent. So large was the amount purchased, that Exchange fell, gold declined, and coin was shipped in quantities to America. To prevent this outflow, the Bank of England raised its rate to 3½, then to 4, and finally to 4½ per cent. Money, of course, was more difficult to get. and at the very moment when speculation was most rampant, the reports of a Spanish loan to be thrown on the market, of a war rumor on the streets of Amsterdam and of a further advance on the rates of interest by the Bank of England, made the money tighter and forced weak speculators who had purchased on margins, to throw their bonds on the market. A decline was inevitable. United States securities fell about five per cent., and the English demand ceased. Gold jumped up suddenly; exchange stiffened, and the fact that large importations, induced partly by the low price of coin, which had prevailed for sometime past, were about being entered, only increased the demand for specie. Gold, which in the latter part of March sold at 131, touched on Saturday 139⅞; and that in the face of an unusually good monthly government financial statement, which showed a marked diminution in the amount of public debt.

A CONTRADICTION.—The New York World, of Saturday, says: "It was stated in yesterday's World that General Jordan would command the Cuban army when all the contingents were united. This is a mistake of ours. We are assured by the party who showed us the muster-rolls that General Jordan, who is said to be the great organizing officer of the old Confederate army, will not command the Cuban army, but will merely perfect its organization, and that the officer that is to command it went out disguised on Tuesday in the Arago as a private soldier, and that he did not discover himself to the men until the vessel had left the harbor. This officer is well known in the old regular army and volunteer armies, and is of first class capability."

☞ At the new opera-house in London the footlights, instead of burning up, burn with a downward flame into iron flues, under an artificial pressure of air which also helps to carry off the smoke.

Southern Baptist Convention.

On Sunday interesting religious exercises were had.

Rev. Dr. Curry, of Richmond College, Virginia, from the Committee on the China Mission, submitted a report which was read. Dr. Curry, on submitting the report of the Committee, spoke of the difficulty in reaching the females of heathen lands. In such lands he said there was no schools for the special education of females. It was the Gospel alone that could elevate the females of heathen lands to their true position, as equals and helpmeets to man. And as females in China were excluded from public intercourse with Foreigners. the only way to reach them was through the native population.

Interesting letters from Missionaries in China were read.

The report of the Committee on time and place of meeting next year was offered recommending that the time and place of meeting be Walnut Street Church, Louisville, Ky. Dr. Burrows, of Virginia to preach the Introductory sermon, Dr. Tucker of Georgia, Alternate.

The report was, after discussion, adopted.

Rev. Mr. Phillips, Missionary from Africa, spoke of the want of sympathy with the African Mission, that he had found so apparent in this country since he returned. He was sorry he was not in Africa to-day. He was made painfully to feel that the brethren in this country was not with the cause in Africa, but for him, and he knew that such sympathy would soon be lost after his return.

He thought sometimes that the brethren were ready to give up the African Mission, but would the brethren give up the cause after they had been instrumental in doing so much good there, building up and strengthening churches? He did not think the Convention could give up the work; but the work there must be carried on by the prayers and contributions of the churches of the South. He had tried to present the subject of African Missions in England, but while the English Baptists expressed sympathy for his sufferings and those of the other Missionaries there, they felt no sympathy for and gave nothing to the Mission.

Rev. J. H. DeVotie, of Columbus, Ga., said his whole soul was stirred on the subject of foreign missions. It was impossible, he thought, to stop the work of Missions in Africa. If the Southern Convention should cease their operations in Africa, the Lord would give the work to others that would take it in charge. A passage in revelation had struck him forcibly, "that no man take thy crown." No one can take from us our crown of life. but they may take from us our crown of glory He believed that the brethren all felt that when Brother Phillips said he wanted to go back to Africa, like saying to him, go back Brother Phillips, and we will sustain you there as long as we live.

A collection of $300 was taken up for African Missions.

Rev. Dr. Winkler offered the following, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the Convention has viewed with sensible gratification, the attendance of the pupils of the Blind Asylum on the meetings of this body, and for their assistance in public singing.

Rev. Dr. Samson, D. C., offered the following, which was adopted:

Resolved, That we deem it a duty, and regard it as the high prerogative of our Mission Boards to study the precedents and pursue the plans sanctioned by apostolic example in appointing agents to make collections for the Missionaries now in the field, and that we regard that plan as contributing to the success which has attended our labors.

Rev. Dr. Winkler, of Charleston, S. C., offered the following, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the systematic and persistent contributions, however small, from members of the churches and Sunday schools every Lord's day is a plan the prosecution of which will contribute to the efficiency of the missions' cause connected with the Convention, so dear to the churches.

CITY AFFAIRS.

WHERE TO BUY GOODS.—All who visit Atlanta for the purpose of purchasing family supplies in dry goods, groceries, etc. or a full stock of goods and merchandise, would do well to take counsel of the advertising columns of THE CONSTITUTION, which will be found an unerring indication of the establishments prepared to meet their demands in a prompt and satisfactory manner. There is no danger of visiting the stores of, and purchasing goods from, those merchants whose business is advertised in our columns. A trial will attest the truth of what we here record.

Some make it a rule never to go where they are not invited. In our columns will be found standing invitations from our merchants to call and examine their stocks.

☞ The Ordinary of Richmond county has decided that hereafter no application for Homestead Exemption will be passed upon or considered which does not set forth a full description of the real estate from which the Homestead shall be laid off, and the names of the wife and children of the applicant.

☞ Last week fifty convicts were sent from the Penitentiary at Milledgeville, to work on the Macon and Brunswick Railroad. Convicts are hired out as fast as they come in, at ten dollars per head per annum. There are only about forty-nine convicts left in the walls of the Penitentiary.

☞ A poor man in a neighboring town with "nine small children and one at the breast," is in such reduced circumstances we learn that he has been compelled to sell the last chair in his house to "raise the wind." Not very cheerful to his household.

☞ Gov. Stevenson, of Kentucky, has appointed a delegation of the most prominent citizens of that State, to attend the Memphis Commercial Convention. Georgia's Governor has made no appointments as yet.

☞ A case of "fetish" poisoning has occurred in Augusta among the colored population.

☞ Twenty-five persons were confirmed by Bishop Beckwith of the Episcopal Church in Augusta last Sunday.

☞ On the first Tuesday in June the assets of the Union Bank in Augusta will be sold. Among the assets are a large amount of Confederate bonds and currency.

☞ On Friday, the 14th inst.. the assets of the Augusta Fertilizer Manufacturing Company will be sold at public out-cry.

☞ The "elite" city of Milledgeville has been indulging in the sport of a "bear fight." What is bruin?

☞ Nashville is exporting cedar Vineyard poles to St. Louis.

Lee and Motley.

It is stated, that when Gen. Lee had his late interview with Gen. Grant, Mr. Motley was present. The meeting of these two different characters is suggestive. Mr. Motley is the historian of the Netherlands. He knew how to do justice to a brave people struggling for their liberties abroad. He could recognize something to be admired in the wonderful courage and conduct of the men who guided and inspired that great combat for liberty and justice. But when he looks upon qualities in his own country as heroic and disinterested, upon valor such as Greece and Rome never surpassed, and a chieftian, who in public and private virtue and military genius has no living equal. he beholds a wicked rebellion and the most iniquitous traitors the world ever saw. justly punished by having their own negro slaves put over them. Mr. Motley. the historian of great deeds, who, under no possible circumstances, could perform what he has described, will go to the Court of St. James, to bask in the sunshine of political and social position. whilst Gen. Lee, in the obscure village of Lexington, is withdrawn from the gaze, though not from the thoughts of the world. But, as Mr. Motley knows, there is such a thing as history, and, long after the present Motley is forgotten, some future Motley will arise, who will award to Gen. Lee as prominent and glorious a place among the great men of the world, as the historian of the Netherlands has given to the chief heroic figure of that immortal struggle.—Statesman.

IMPORTANT TO THE MEDICAL PROFESSION.—We learn from a distinguished physician of this city, who returned home at a late hour last night from his attendance upon the American Medical Association lately convened at New Orleans, that the Association while in convention, unanimously passed a resolution curtailing the power of College Faculties in granting licenses to students and making such work the duty of a Board of Commissioners appointed for the State, by the Association. It was further

Resolved, That hereafter no Medical School in this country, other than those fully endowed, be entitled to representation in this Association, if the amount charged by such schools for a single course of regular lectures be less than one hundred and forty dollars.—Nashville Banner.

SENATOR TRUMBULL A DISAPPOINTED MAN.—Senator Trumbull left for Illinois to-day, a disappointed man. He has secured little or no important patronage from the Administration, and attributes the fact to his vote against the impeachment of Andrew Johnson. The President is inexorable on that point. and favors no man who held office under Johnson or voted against his impeachment.—Cor. Courier-Journal.

SPANISH MISSION.—It is declared that Senator Sumner and others have finally influenced the President against the appointment of General Sickles as Minister to Spain, and the name of William Cullen Bryant has been mentioned for the place; but if the President appointed him, it is doubtful if Mr. W. C. Bryant would accept. Cor. Courier-Journal.

THE CONSTITUTION
—HAS THE—
LARGEST CITY, COUNTY AND STATE CIRCULATION
Of any paper published at this point.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA::::::::MAY 13.

A CHALLENGE.—This paper and the Intelligencer both claim the largest circulation. As one of us must be wrong, and is thus sailing under false color, we propose to settle the question by a practical test. We agree to submit the matter in regard to the circulation of all of the Atlanta papers to an impartial arbitrament, and offer the proposition in the fair spirit of an honorable rivalry.

CORRESPONDENCE WANTED.—We invite correspondence from all parts of the State on practical matters—railroads, manufactures, inventions, crops, legal decisions, improvements minerals, progress, etc. Be brief, condense down, and write on one side of the sheet. We wish to aid all the material interests of the country.

Marrying a Deceased Wife's Sister.

The English law forbids a man to marry his sister-in-law. This statute was passed in 1835, after fiery opposition. Numerous efforts have been made to repeal it, but vainly. The matter is now before the British Parliament with some prospect of success in removing it from the statute book. Mr. Bright has identified himself with the movement, and made a speech for repeal in his own cogent way. He was opposed by the Solicitor General, Sir John Coleridge, whose polished oratory does not seem to equal in effect the plain power of the great Reformer.

It is one of those questions upon which men may differ very honestly. It is needless to say that this country has taken the broadest liberality of action for its rule. It permits everything to marry, that wants to—pretty nearly. The difficulty in our Puritanic country seems to be, not who can marry, but who can stay together after they are married.

Mr. Bright regarded the question as one of pure sentiment, for individual judgment. And he thought if first cousins could marry, as the law permitted—a union so often resulting in lunatic or fatuous progeny—why it was straining at the gnat and swallowing the camel, to forbid the marriage to the sister-in-law. He instanced New England, in which we don't think he was particularly fortunate, as we know of nothing that he could not have exemplified in that versatile region of isms. He said that there were many who had done the thing and needed legal ratification of their wedlock.

Mr. Coleridge opposed him, elegantly but feebly, stating that the women were opposed to the repeal—a statement we are disposed to believe a bare assertion. He contended that the Christian Church for 1,500 years has repudiated it, and that the delightful relation of sister-in-law would be broken up thereby.

The vote was ninety-nine majority for repeal, amid much cheering in which the ladies joined with immense flourish of parasols.

This vote was on the second reading. Success is expected on the third reading.

This matter shows the advancing conservatism of the day in England. The spirit of reform is a mighty giant, and never has it been as potent as it is this very period in which we live. Hardly a week passes without uprooting some institution, or dissolving some prejudice. And it is astonishing with what ease matters of immemorial age and spreading sweep crumble away almost without a shock. Of course, for a long time they have been preparing for downfall, their hold has been loosened, their vitals perishing, and their strength has been seeming instead of real. Undermined beneath, rotten within, and but a spurious health without, they finally go down before some rude assault, and are known no more but in retrospection.

All over the world this spirit of innovation has marched. Austria relaxed her proscription, and Hungary reconciled is her best subject. Slavery falls at one fell blow, and not a voice to do it reverence or regret its death. England has opened the ballot box to her masses. The high hedges of aristocratic prejudice shiver before the crushing blows of Bright. Ireland groaning under intoleracle burdens, sees light in the onward movement of that party, to whose leadership Gladstone has won the proud right through weary years of bitter discomfiture and disheartening toil.

The wave is onward. These waves don't always stop with carrying off the effete—sometimes they desolate the valuable. So we need not look for unmixed good in even needed reforms.

Henry S. Foote, of Tennessee.

In another column we print an original and interesting correspondence. It gives practical testimony to the fictional character of Mr. Pollard's new book on Mr Davis. Mr. Foote has not been regarded as altogether orthodox political authority lately, but the value of his evidence in disproving anything that will hurt Mr. Davis, will be denied by none. We opine that the self-constituted biographer of our Confederate ex-President will have a hard row to weed with his adventurous publication. We quote the paragraph to which Mr. Foote replies:

"It was no sooner known that Lee's army was across the Potomac, than Mr. Foote of Tennessee—a person who was always prompt to catch at any sensation, and ready to ride whatever hobby was in career, offerred a resolution in Congress for the "terms of a just and honorable peace," considering how Providence had "continually blessed" the arms of the Confederacy. But Mr. Foote, then in relations of intimate [illegible]ship with Mr. Davis, overdid the desires [illegible] latter, and another friend of the President [illegible] Holt, of Georgia,) immediately rose to [illegible] in the House of Representatives, and moved to modify the resolution to the effect that a commissioner should be sent to Washington to protest that "the war should be conducted in the sense established by the rules of Christian and civilized nations." It was privately explained that the design was only to lay a foundation for negotiations to the extent of experimenting on the Democratic party of the North; and that while the South had already sufficiently offered terms of peace in Mr. Davis' first manifesto at Montgomery, to the effect that eight mil-own happiness, should be "let alone," it would be an ingenious thing, and have the appearance of great magnimity, to offer to ameliorate the war at the time that the South was manifestly superior in the contest and her armies actually on the enemy's soil."

☞ The Macon Telegraph says that in four mouths the bacon and corn trade in Macon has been $869,657 94. The four months before the trade was $507,362 40. This makes $1,377,020 34 in eight months. Other farming expenses have cost $2,000,000 more. There are yet four more months before crops come in, and planters are beginning to offer ware-house acceptances for supplies.

Does not this show that there is no money in raising cotton to buy corn and bacon with. It is a ruinous policy with good seasons: with bad it is starvation.

FOOTE vs. POLLARD.

Gratuitous Vindication of Mr. Davis from an Unexpected Source.—Foemen to the Rescue.

ATLANTA, GA, May 12, 1869.

EDITOR OF THE CONSTITUTION: The extreme inaccuracy of many of the statements contained in the advance-sheets of Pollard's "Life of Jefferson Davis," must be apparent to all who are familiar with the incidents of which Mr. Pollard writes. The subjoined letter from Gov. Foote, considering his life-long opposition to Mr. Davis, displays a magnanimity which is seldom equalled; while it completely refutes the slanders which are perpetrated by Mr. Pollard for the promotion of selfish ends. Presenting, as Mr. Davis does, an imposing spectacle of moral fortitude and heroism, the people of the Southern States will not suffer their estimate of his worth to be underrated by the calumnies of one who hopes to secure public favor at the expense of a great man's reputation.

Very truly yours, etc.
WYATT H CARDWELL.

NASHVILLE, May 8, 1869.

W. H. Cardwell, Esq.:

MY DEAR SIR—I am placed under special obligation to you, by your letter just received, enclosing several printed pages, which I understand to be part of a forthcoming volume entitled, "Life of Jefferson Davis," etc., by Edward A. Pollard. I regret that Mr. Pollard should have fallen into the notable error of supposing that certain Peace Propositions introduced by me in the Confederate Congress, just after the second battle of Manassas, were prompted in any degree by Mr. Davis, and that he should have made them the pretext of unjust animadversion upon this gentleman. I thought that there were no intelligent persons in Richmond, during the war, that did not know that there had been between Mr. Davis and myself, ever since our painful contest, in 1851, in Mississippi, no intercourse whatever up to the day of my arrival in Richmond, and that a week or two after I took my seat in the Confederate Congress, I had felt compelled to commence a course of zealous opposition to his administration, which was kept up without an hour's intermission as long as I remained in the performance of Legislative duties. To speak of me, as Mr. Pollard has done, as being, at the time of bringing forward these peace resolutions, "In intimate relations with Mr. Davis," and to attempt to subject this gentleman to the discredit of having been guilty of cunning and ambidextrous political management, in the instigation of a deceptious public movement intended to beguile the Northern Democracy, seems to me to be one of the most extraordinary proceedings that I have ever heard of. The truth is, that never during my stay in Richmond did I enjoy Mr. Davis' political confidence for one minute. I saw him but three times in three years, and on all these occasions my interchange of words with him was most brief, at his office, and always in presence of others. I did, on no occasion, advise or confer with him, or with any member of his Cabinet, in regard to any movement which I contemplated making in Congress, and I certainly never had reason to conjecture that Mr. Davis had derived the smallest gratification from any act performed by me, or from any word uttered by me whilst I was endeavoring conscientiously and independently to perform my duty as Representative in the Confederate Congress from the State of Tennessee. My relations with Mr. Davis could surely not have been very "intimate" or even kind, when I was warmly opposing conscription, confiscation, forcible impressment, martial law, suspension of habeas corpus, and other kindred measures; or when I was moving resolutions of want of confidence in several of his cabinet officers; or when I was denouncing Bragg, Pemberton, and Hindman, and vindicating Joe. Johnston, Stonewall Jackson, Gustavus Smith, Polk, Beauregard, Forrest, Morgan, Floyd, and Pillow. The truth is, that I brought forward Peace Resolutions, or counselled others to bring them forward repeatedly, and always simply because I preferred peace to war, and thought it better to strike for peace whilst a fair and honorable one could be obtained instead of waiting, as others thought best, until our armies were all dispersed, and we should be compelled to submit to such terms as the conqueror might impose. What I attempted in the interests of peace, I attempted openly, and I am not willing now that the burden of responsibility should be shifted from my own shoulders to those of any other individual whatever.

To Mr. Pollard's disrespectful allusions and inuendoes in reference to myself, I have no response to make. My acts are before the country. The history of the Confederate struggle, and of the events which have succeeded that struggle, will be hereafter written by some calm, enlightened and just-minded individual, and what I have done of good or of evil in the past, will be fairly estimated by posterity.

I shall patiently and cheerfully await the test of "scrutiny of talents, and of time."

With a grateful sense of your friendship in some of the most trying scenes of my past life, I have the honor to be, very truly and cordially, your obedient servant,

H. S. FOOTE.

CINCINNATI, May 12.—The explosion of a kerosene lamp resulted in burning to the water's edge of the steamers Darling, Mary Ervin, Westmoreland, Nelusti, Cheyenne and Clifton. Loss of steamers and cargoes $200,000. Five deck hands on the Cheyenne were burned to death. Four or five jumped into the river from the Darling, and but one was saved. Passengers sleeping on the boats were also lost. A full cargo of cotton just discharged from the Darling was lost.

NEW ORLEANS, May 12.—The Committee of invitation to the Commercial Convention on the 24th inst., are receiving favorable responses to their invitations The prospects are encouraging for a large attendance at the Convention.

The New Orleans delegation to the Memphis Convention is instructed to invite the Memphis Convention bodily, editorial fraternity generally, and in the Mississippi Valley particularly are also invited to attend. The Committee have arranged that all delegates attending will be returned free; they will also be entertained by the hotels in this city at half rates.

Weather cool and pleasant, and promises to be very agreeable for Convention time, for which is fixed at the most healthful season.

At the Bulk Grain meeting, last night, after Governor Stanard, Messrs. Spurjock and Filly had spoken, Myron Colony, of the St. Louis Democrat, General Bussy and the Vice President of the Chamber of Commerce, Oglesby, spoke strongly representing the interest of the entire West. A movement was made that the matter be resumed at the Convention on the 24th, as also will be obstructions to navigation and the mouth of the Mississippi river.

The St. Louis delegation left for home this evening.

Governor Warmoth, yesterday, addressed a communication to Auditor Wickliffe withdrawing any further opposition to his discharging the functions of his office, and authorizing the officers in charge of the Auditor's office to relinquish possesion to Wickliffe.

SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR OR Medicine for Dyspepsia, Headache Jaundice, Costiveness, Camp Dysentery, Sick Headache, Chronic Diarrhoea, Affections of the Bladder and Kidneys, Fever, Nervousness, Chills, Diseases of the Skin, Impurity of the Blood, Melancholy or Depression of Spirits

Most of the ailments here enumerated have their origin in a diseased liver, which is the most prevalent affection in this country, and as in many cases the patient is not within the reach of a physician, it requires that some remedy should be provided that would not in the least impair the constitution, and yet be active and safe. That such is the character of the SIMMONS REGULATOR there can be no doubt, which the testimony of hundreds will establish.

SYMPTOMS OF A DISEASED LIVER.

Pain in the side. Sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade is mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternating with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred when few of them existed, yet examination of the body after death has shown the Liver to have been extensively deranged.

It should be used by all persons, old and young, whenever any of the foregoing symptoms appear. It is a purely vegetable compound, is not injurious to the most delicate constitutions, and will keep the liver in healthy action if used properly.

Persons living in unhealthy localities may avoid all bilious attacks by taking a dose occasionally to keep the liver in healthy action.

Regulator For children complaining of colic, headache, or sick stomach a teaspoonful or more will give relief. Children, as well as adults, eat sometimes too much supper, or eat something which does not digest well, producing sour stomach, heart-burn, or restlessness; a good dose will give relief. This applies to persons of all ages.

Many persons, from eating too much, are restless at night, or in day time fidgety, wool-gathering, can't understand what they read, can't keep their thoughts on any one subject so as to reason well, or become fretful. One or two tablespoonful will give relief.

Jaundice.—Take enough Regulator after eating each meal to produce one full action from the bowels every day.

Pregnant ladies will find sure relief from their headache, cos.iveness, swimming in the head, colic, sour stomach, restlessness, etc., etc.

than can be obtained elsewhere in the city.

The "Tilton style" Buggy, for workmanship and material has NO EQUAL, except the "Abbot" buggy. My Repository, one of the largest in the city, possesses the advantage in its location of costing less than half the rent of those up town, I can therefore offer my vehicles at less price.

Those who have had my work require no reference; but to those unacquainted I would respectfully refer to:

THE DAILY CONSTITUTION.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA::::::::MAY 13.

The Georgia Railroad.

We are indebted to S. K. Johnson, the Assistant Superintendent, for a copy of the Annual Reports of the Directors, etc., of that road, for the year ending March 31st, 1869. The exhibits show that it is one of the best managed and most prosperous roads in the South. From the able and lucid report of President King, we gather the following facts:

The Superintendent shows a gross profit of $1,104,521 04, and a net profit (deducting ordinary and current expenses) of $529,062 36, and deducting all payments on account of road, ordinary and extraordinary, a surplus remains of $268,353 77, applicable to other purposes. The company has, however, some valuable assets independent of the road, and the entire net income for the year may be stated thus:

Net income of road after all payments as above stated.		$268,353 77
Dividends on stocks, interest and rent.	$100,711 75
Charged with interest on bonds, taxes and salaries. -	$59,304 26
		$41,407 49
Total net profits - -		$309,761 26

Two dividends of $4 per share each have been declared during the year. It has been the policy of the company to contract no debt not fully covered and provided for by the assets, thereby leaving the stock whole, and the company virtually out of debt. The Superintendent states that the gross earnings exceeded those of the year preceding $100,797 38, and the net earnings $83,542 60. While other roads have been falling off largely in the transportation of cotton, the number of bales transported over the Georgia Road has only decreased 8,336 bales, and that entirely on cotton from Montgomery, Ala.,

In 1867-8, 12,062 bales were transported from Montgomery, while in 1868-9 there were only 2,903 bales, a decrease of 9,159 bales. In 1867-8 the road transported from the west, 487,828 bushels of corn, and 104,640 bushels of wheat. In 1868-9, 1,059,043 bushels of corn and 302,411 bushels of wheat —an increase of 571,215 bushels of corn and 197,771 bushels of wheat. Bank agencies have been established at Atlanta and Athens.

The report of Superintendent Cole shows the earning of the road to be derived as follows: Psssengers, $321,789 78; freight, $761,694 25; mail, $21,037 01.

The operating expenses have been for conducting transportation $146,341 59; for motive power, $223,869 04; maintenance of way $148,280 12; maintenance of cars $57,967 93. The extraordinary expenses have been for renewing locomotive engines (not ordinary repairs) $61 976 15; new cars and rebuilding cars (not ordinary repairs) $53,645 68; new railroad iron, chairs and spikes (over and above ordinary repairs) $43,000; ties in laying new track, $5,373 31; labor ditto, $3, 889 58; government tax on gross receipts, $8,373 97.

Paid for four new locomotives, $49,093 22; new freight house and offices in Atlanta, $30,947 82, balance on new Round House in Atlanta, $4.408 86; balance to Stockholders in dividends $286,353 77. While the gross receipts of other roads show a diminution, the gross receipts of the Georgia road have increased over $100,000.

The following exhibit shows the decline in other Roads: Georgia Central, $212,226,57; South Western, $86,408,91; Western and Atlantic, $329,584,11; Macon and Western, $83.972.86; Atlanta and West Point, $40,405,73 and the South Carolina Road, $21,044,61. The increase of business on the Georgia is explained by the fact that the local business has been fully maintained and the through business handsomely increased.

A new Round House at Augusta is necessary, and a heavy outlay will be required for new Iron, timber and labor.

The increase in travel amounts to $33,424,50, and in freight, $67,372,87 over the earnings for the last year.

The Superintendent thinks that the income from Western business will increase, especially in the transportation of grain, whenever proper accommodation for its shipment to foreign markets is offered at our seaboard. St. Louis, with her immense facilities by rail and steamer, will soon become the distributing point for the Great West. When the Iron Mountain Railroad between St. Louis and Belmont on the Mississippi River is completed, (which it is expected will be done in August) Cars can be run between St. Louis and the Seaboard without transfer, thereby making the shipment of grain in bulk from the West to the seaboard, for shipment to foreign markets. This would be an important step towards securing the emigration and the importations for the West passing through our seaboard cities and over our Roads.

Freight received from the Atlanta and West Point Railroad has fallen off considerably.

The receipts of the Macon and Augusta Railroad have been sufficient to pay its operating expenses, including transportation and roadway.

The Georgia Road has laid down during the year twelve and a half miles of new iron on the main line, making in all forty-seven and a half miles of new iron laid down since the war. Five and a third miles of rails have been repaired at the shop, at Union Point, at a cost of $6,100, or a fraction over one-third the cost of rerolling.

New water tanks have been built at Fifty mile post, Barnett, Seventy mile post, and Union Point, and new water stations at Union Point and Alcova.

The roadway and bridges are all in improved condition.

Twenty-five engines are reported in good order against seventeen last year.

Twelve engines have been renewed almost to rebuilding.

The Company turned out one first class passenger car, two baggage cars, one shanty and twenty-eight box cars; beside rebuilding two first class and two second class passenger cars. The rolling stock now consists of twenty-three passenger cars, ten baggage cars, two hundred and ninety-two box cars, eighteen coal cars, one hundred platform cars, fourteen shanty cars, fourteen cab cars, and twenty-seven stock cars.

The trains ran with commendable regularity and safety, and no accident occurred during the year requiring special remark.

The details of the management of the Road have been mainly performed by S. K. Johnson, with great energy and promptness.

The report is a deeply interesting one, and we commend it to the attention of the people of Georgia.

Death of Joseph Adkins.

From the Chronicle and Sentinel)

On yesterday morning it was rumored on the streets that Joseph Adkins, a notorious Scalawag and Senator in the Georgia Legislature from the Warren District, had been killed on the previous day in Columbia county. By the mail of yesterday evening letters were received in this city from that county giving the particulars of the tragedy. It seems that sometime since, when the Legislature was in session, Atkins wrote a very insulting letter to a respectable lady living in Dearing, Columbia county. On Monday morning, Adkins, accompanied by his wife, got off the cars and remained a short while in Dearing. When about to get in a buggy to leave the village, A. was approached by a man with but one leg, an only brother of the young lady whom A. had insulted, who said to Adkins: "I am in possession of that letter, and demand satisfaction for it." At this remark A. put his hand behind him to draw a pistol, and Adams, being unarmed, attempted to borrow a weapon, but unsuccessfully. It seems that here Mrs. Adkins interfered and pursuaded her husband to leave the place on foot with her, the buggy being left in charge of a negro boy. After proceeding a mile from town Mrs. A. returned and entering the vehicle, was driven off by the negro to overtake her husband. Sometime after this had happened, Mr. Adams and two other gentlemen leaving Dearing for their homes in the country overtook and passed the Adkins party two miles and a half from the village. Adkins and the negro were walking together in advance, the latter with a cocked revolver in his hand while the buggy was driven behind by the female. This was the last seen of the Senator until after the tragedy. Sometime after passing Sturgis' Mill two gun shots were heard, and the alarm being given, parties repaired to the spot, and found that Adkins had been shot and mortally wounded. The wounds were made by a shot gun, and the wounded man stated that he was shot from the cover of a tree by one of the Adams. In falling, his pistol was discharged, and the ball lodged in a fence bordering the road. In contradiction of this, both his wife and the negro state that they were unable to see who fired the shot. A search at the place from whence the shot was fired disclosed the footsteps of but one man, and he a negro probably, as the tracks were those made by a No. 10 negro brogan.

Special Notices.

A CARD.

At a regular meeting of Defiance Fire Company, No. 5, held on the 10th instant, the following resolutions were submitted and unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we refer, with feelings of the utmost pleasure, to the recent visit of our Company to Atlanta, and shall ever cherish, in our "memory of memories," the unbounded hospitality with which we were met and entertained during our stay in the Gate City.

The thanks of the Company are due and hereby tendered to the Misses Dozier, Stubbs, Rushton, and other of Atlanta's fair daughters, for kindly remembrances in the way of floral offerings and expressions of good wishes contained in certain "billetdoux" received on the march in procession.

To Hook and Ladder and Tallulah are we indebted for certain smiles, which even the cares of business and sober life will experience considerable trouble in eradicating.

To that generous and courteous gentleman, Mr. George Sharpe, Jr., do we desire particularly to express our appreciation of, and thanks for the beautiful testimonial of regard of which we are the recipients at his hands, and we trust that the addition to our motto of "Sharp and Quick" may ever enable us to bid "Defiance" to the devouring element—our sworn enemy, "fire."

To our generous and kind hearted friend, A. J. White, Esq., President of the Macon and Western Railroad, who so freely "rode us on a rail," do we feel under lasting obligations for this and past liberality shown us.

To our brother firemen of "Protection" are we also indebted for favors so cheerfully extended us.

And last, "but not least," do we make our prettiest bow of thanks to the gentlemanly and obliging proprietors and attaches of the United States Hotel for their unceasing efforts to render us comfortable during our stay, assuring them of our entire satisfaction and appreciation.

Resolved, That the above be published in the Atlanta daily papers and Macon Journal and Messenger and Daily Telegraph.

Chills and Fever

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the safe, certain, speedy and permanent cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southwestern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion, that in no case whatever will it fail to cure, if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually, this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order; should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

Bull's Worm Destroyer.

To my United States and World-wide Readers.

I have received many testimonials from professional and medical men, as my almanacs and various publications have shown, all of which are genuine. The following letter from a highly educated and popular physician in Georgia, is certainly one of the most sensible communications I have ever received. Dr. Clement knows exactly what he speaks of, and his testimony deserves to be written in letters of gold. Hear what the Doctor says of BULL'S WORM DESTROYER:

VILLANOW, Walker Co., Ga., June 29, 1866.

DR. JOHN BULL—Dear Sir: I have recently given your "Worm Destroyer" several trials, and find it wonderfully efficacious. It has not failed in a single instance to have the wished for effect. I am doing a pretty large country practice, and have daily use for some article of the kind. I am free to confess that I know of no remedy recommended by the ablest authors that is so certain and speedy in its effects. On the contrary, they are uncertain in the extreme. My object in writing you is to find out upon what terms I can get the medicine direct from you. If I can get it upon easy terms, I shall use a great deal of it. I am aware that the use of such articles is contrary to the teachings and practice of a great majority of the regular line M. D.'s, but I see no just cause or good sense in discarding a remedy which we know to be efficient, simply because we may be ignorant of its combination. For my part, I shall make it a rule to use all and any means to alleviate suffering humanity which I may be able to command—not hesitating because some one more ingenious than myself may have learned its effects first, and secured the sole right to secure that knowledge. However, I am by no means an advocate or supporter of the thousands of worthless nostrums that flood the country, that purport to cure all manner of disease to which human flesh is heir. Please reply soon, and inform me of your best terms. I am, sir, most respectfully,

JULIUS P. CLEMENT M. D.

Bull's Sarsaparilla.

A Good Reason for the Captain's Faith.

READ THE CAPTAIN'S LETTER AND THE LETTER FROM HIS MOTHER.

BENTON BARRACK'S, Mo., April 30 1865

DR. JOHN BULL—Dear Sir: Knowing the efficiency of your Sarsaparilla, and the healing and beneficial qualities it possesses, I send you the following statement of my case.

I was wounded two years ago—was taken prisoner and confined for sixteen months. Being moved so often, my wounds have not healed yet. I have not set up a moment since I was wounded. I am shot through the hips. My general health is impaired, and I need something to assist nature. I have more faith in your Sarsaparilla than in anything else. I wish that that is genuine. Please express me half a dozen bottles, and oblige.

Capt. C. P. JOHNSON,
St. Louis, Mo.

P. S.—The following was written April 30, 1865, by Mrs. Jennie Johnson, mother of Captain Johnson:

DR. BULL—Dear Sir: My husband, Dr. C. S Johnson, was a skillful surgeon and physician in Central New York, where he died leaving the above C. P. Johnson to my care. At thirteen years of age he had a chronic diarrhœa and scrofula, for which I gave him your Sarsaparilla. IT CURED HIM. I have for ten years recommended it to many in New York, Ohio and Iowa, for scrofula, fever scores and general debility. Perfect success has attended it. The cures effected in some cases of scrofula and fever sores were almost miraculous. I am very anxious for my son to again have recourse to your Sarsaparilla. He is fearful of getting a spurious article, hence his writing to you for it. His wounds were terrible, but I believe he will recover.

Respectfully, JENNIE JOHNSON.

ARKANSAS HEARD FROM.

Testimony of Medical Men

STONEY POINT, White Co., Ark., May 23, 1866.

DR. JOHN BULL—Dear Sir: Last February I was in Louisville purchasing drugs, and I got some of your Sarsaparilla and Cedron Bitters.

My son-in-law, who was with me in the store, has been down with rheumatism for some time, commenced on the Bitters, and soon found his general health improved.

Dr. Gist, who has been in bad health, tried them, and he also improved.

Dr. Coffee, who has been in bad health for several years—stomach and liver affected—is improved very much [illegible] use of your Bitters [illegible] you great popdeed, the [illegible] this settlement. I think I could sell a large quantity of your medicines this fall, especially of your Cedron Bitters and Sarsaparilla. Ship me via Memphis, care Rickett & Neely.

THE DAILY CONSTITUTION.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA :::::::::MAY 12.

Correspondence of the Evening Wisconsin.

THE LAKE SHORE.

The Great Fisheries at Two Rivers —Business at Manitowoc.

Two Rivers is the terminus of Mr. Goodrich's daily line of Chicago steamers north. We leave Milwaukee at 7 in the evening, touch at Sheboygan about midnight, pass Manitowoc, and land at the pier at the Two Rivers half an hour after "sun-up." It is just a good night's ride from Milwaukee.

Two Rivers contains over two thousand people, sixty-nine families of whom speak French, twenty-three American, nine Irish, one Norwegian, and the balance sprechen Deutsch. The town has an ancient dilapidated appearance, yet the location is every way striking and remarkable. Two quite large rivers come in here from the north and west, nearly fifty miles distant and unite within six rods of Lake Michigan. Smaller craft find ample sailing and harbor room inside the rivers. The country about is sandy and level, and was formerly thickly covered with Jack pine. The French quarters occupy the little strip of peninsula between the lake and river, on the north side, and on good fishing days present a most lively and romantic picture.

Two Rivers is the largest fishing port on the west shore of Lake Michigan. They count up, in the immediate neighborhood, forty trap nets, 500 gill nets, and over thirty fishing boats, nearly all of which are the pride and glory of the French quarters. Their yearly shipments amount to over 6,000 half barrels of 100 pounds each, in salt, and over 300,000 pounds boxed up fresh in ice. Joe La May is the king fisherman of the coast. He has $15 000 invested in fishing traps, including 150 gill nets, ten pound or trap nets, and eight fishing boats. His fishing trade last year exceeded $20,000. Frank and Nelson Boutin have eight pound nets and 200 gill nets; they have also the little schooner Island which runs all the way round from Milwaukee to Green Bay and the upper islands, trading in fish, fur, oil, maple sugar, etc. Their business last year amounted to $50 000. Robert Graham has a similar trading craft, but runs no fishing nets. John V. Allie, Fred. Eggers, Henry Courchaine, Joseph Gonyon, Moses Bunker and the LaFond Brothers are well known fishermen here.

Over one hundred women and children are constantly here making and repairing nets. The labor and dexterity required in this work are almost inconceivable. Joe La May is now having a pound net made that will take twelve large coils of rope and a thousand pounds of twine. The netting alone would cover the four sides and top of the Newhall House twice over! The meshes are from one to two inches, and have to be all worked out, single threaded and by-hand.

The gill nets are made of stout linen thread, three feet wide by a hundred long. They are taken out six to eight miles and sunk edgeways in fifty fathom water. The lower edge is held to the bottom by weights and the upper edge floats above. Twenty of these nets are set in a row, and constitute a gang for one boat. The meshes are about one inch and three quarters. The fish get their heads in the meshes and are caught, like sapient benedicts, fast by the gills. The "gangs" are raised every few days, and bring up from five hundred to one thousand pounds.

It is a gala-time with the Frenchman here in good-fishing weather. Hope goes out with their twenty fine fishing craft in the morning, and joy comes sailing in with their shining burdens in the afternoon. All are busy till sunset; the fish are dressed; the nets hung out to dry, and the 300 happy Frenchmen talk and laugh out the day.

The pound nets are huge affairs. They are set about half a mile from shore in forty or fifty feet of water. First comes the "lead," an immense network of fence, reaching to the bottom and extending from eighty to one hundred and twenty rods in a straight line. Then comes a heart-shaped opening, leading through a tunnel into a "pot," or "trap," twenty-eight feet square, reaching to the bottom also. All are supported and fastened by means of long piles—forty-five in number—driven into the mud below. The fish come to the "lead," and, having their curiosity excited, must needs follow it out, until they pass through the heart enclosure—through the tunnel snout—thence into the fatal and delusive "pot." Five thousand pounds are often gathered at one haul.

New York Dry Goods Market.

From the Independent, 6th instant.]

In unbleached sheetings and shirtings there is a feeling of timidity among buyers, and prices are yielding, while the transactions are on a very limited scale, just equal to the immediate demands of trade Our quotations on standard makes are about half a cent a yard lower than those of last week, and the lighter weights have fallen in about the same proportion.

The business in bleached shirtings and sheetings has been on a very moderate scale, and is confined chiefly to a few popular makes. There is a general feeling of dullness, which may at any moment, however, be changed for one of liveliness, for we cannot but regard the existing state of trade as the result of accident rather than the natural effect of any permanent causes.

There has been a rather better demand for printing-cloths, and considerable sales have been effected, preparatory to the fall business, but without any increase of prices.

Prints have been in increased demand, and the activity in medium colors has been quite marked, but for light patterns, there is less inquiry, and the manufacturers show some anxiety to press sales. The market is very well supplied with new and attractive styles from the Merrimac Mills. Sprague's fancies sell at 12½ cents, less the regular discount.

There is a moderate demand for ginghams of the better qualities, and sales are effected at full prices without difficulty. Stocks are light, and there is but little danger of an accumulation in first hands.

Corset jeans in fair demand and prices are steady.

Printed lawns and percales are in better demand. The season, though backward, is now favorable to these light fabrics, and good styles command good prices.

Rolled jaconet and cambrics are in very fair demand. Prices steady.

Muslin de laines are not so much enquired for as might be expected at this season. The manufacturers are very well supplied with a good variety of attractive styles.

Woolens of all descriptions are dull, and prices are consequently unsettled. Cloths are in small demand, and prices are very unsatisfactory to manufacturers.

Cassimeres and satinets are without any noticeable changes. The trade is limited almost entirely to the higher grades of fancy cassimeres and light doeskins.

Kentucky jeans are dull and prices weak.

In European dry goods the trade has been confined almost exclusively to the few choice goods adapted to the season, which are required for the city retail trade. The auction rooms have been largely supplied, but prices have been low and anything but satisfactory to the reporters.

Importations have very materially fallen off during the past fortnight, and most of the goods arriving go into bond.

☞ With Dyspeptics everything is wrong. Food does not digest; sleep does not refresh; wine does not cheer; smiles do not gladden; music does not charm, nor can another joy enter the breast of the miserable dyspeptic. You must get rid of it, or it will become seated and confirmed, and life will be a burden and existence a curse. PLANTATION BITTERS will do away with all this. New life, strength and energy will take possession of you. The damask will again bloom upon your cheek, and the luster in your eye will again be as bright as in your healthiest, happiest and most joyous days.
